

Evacuation & Repatriation Insurance Providers

J-1 insurance requirements require Evacuation and Repatriation (E&R) coverage to cover the costs of returning to your home country under medical care or the return of your remains in the event of death. If your general health insurance plan does not include E&R coverage, you will have to purchase it separately yourself. Fortunately, E&R insurance is fairly inexpensive.

Below is a partial list of insurance companies that offer separate E&R policies. Many will also include travel assistance, political and natural disaster evacuation and other benefits. We recommend you look at several different plans online before selecting one. Be sure to read the full policy description and coverage details before selecting an E&R plan.

The minimum coverage required for J-1 and J-2 visa holders are as follows:

- Minimum Repatriation Coverage - US$25,000
- Minimum Medical Evacuation Coverage – US$50,000

NOTE: Some insurance plans will not cover J-2 dependents separately (i.e. they require the student/scholar to be enrolled in the plan together with dependents). Read the insurance details carefully or call the company and speak to an agent before purchasing.

PSU does not endorse or guarantee any of the following insurance providers. Use at your own discretion.

Betins

A variety of E&R plans are offered

<https://www.betins.com/Products/Evacuation/Evacuation.aspx>

866-552-8834

International Student Insurance

“Medical Evacuation and Repatriation Insurance”

<https://www.internationalstudentinsurance.com/explained/medical-evacuation-repatriation-insurance.php>

877-758-4391

Rust & Associates

See “Assistance Plans”

https://www.rustassoc.com/additional_insurance/assistance.cfm

800-336-0747

Insubuy

“Medical Evacuation & Repatriation Insurance”

<https://www.insubuy.com/medical-evacuation-and-repatriation-insurance/>

972-985-4400

Seven Corners

“Liaison Medical Evacuation and Repatriation”

<https://www.sevencorners.com/products/liaison-medical-evacuation-and-repatriation>

800-335-0611