

Film: From C to C: Chinese Canadian Stories of Migration

With Jordan Paterson

Canadian Studies and Portland State University invites you to a film presentation with video producer Jordan Paterson from Simon Fraser University.

Filmed on location in BC and throughout China's Guandong province, "From C to C" is a moving and cinematic tapestry of Chinese-Canadian stories of migration. These stories outline the injustices faced by Chinese migrants during the last century, and the little known affects of migration on the families and communities of migrants. The film contrasts these histories with the views and experiences of contemporary Chinese-Canadian youth, leading us to reflect on the meaning of exclusion for those who experienced it, as well as for those who did not.
