

School of Social Work

Combined M.S.W. and M.P.H. Health Promotion Track (School of Community Health) Curriculum
M.S.W. Program – Portland Campus

Students in the M.S.W.-M.P.H. Health Promotion track will need to complete at least 119 credits, which consists of 69 credits of Social Work and 50 credits of Public Health – see attached sample dual degree program model.

In this sample course of study, Public Health coursework will count for 10 credits of M.S.W. requirements, as follows: PH 524 Introduction to Biostatistics (4 credits) will count as SW 551 in the M.S.W. Foundation Research sequence, PHE 535 Epidemiology Survey (3 credits) will count as an M.S.W. Advanced Research elective, and PHE 512 Principles of Health Behavior (3 credits) will count as an Advanced Human Behavior in the Social Environment elective. The 9-credit M.S.W. three-course Advanced Practice concentration sequence will count toward M.P.H. elective credits.
