Sona Karentz Andrews is currently the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs at Portland State University (PSU). Portland State University is Oregon’s most diverse public university with an enrollment of approximately 30,000 graduate and undergraduate students. PSU is an urban research university located in the heart of one of America’s most progressive cities. The university was named by US News and World Report as one of the “Most Innovative Universities” in the nation and is also nationally recognized for its undergraduate curriculum and sustainability initiatives.

Dr. Andrews completed her undergraduate degree in Geography from Worcester State College in Massachusetts and her Master’s and Ph.D. in Geography from Arizona State University. Her disciplinary area is cartography and Geographic Information Science. She has held faculty positions at the University of Minnesota-Twin Cities, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Boise State University, and now Portland State University. Since 1993 she has held leadership positions in the Provost Office at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee; was an American Council on Education Fellow; served as Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs at Boise State University; and as the Vice Chancellor for Academic Strategies for the Oregon University System.

Dr. Andrews currently serves as chair of the Oregon Humanities Board and the Executive Committee of the WICHE Western Academic Leadership Forum. In the past she has served on a number of local state, regional and national task forces on issues related to higher education and K-12.

At present Dr. Andrews is leading Portland State through an unprecedented campus change—reTHINK PSU (http://www.rethink.pdx.edu/). ReTHINK PSU has stimulated campus wide involvement in how the university will deliver an education that serves more students with better outcomes, while containing costs through effective use of technology and community engagement.
