Quick facts

- Principal license program
- 28–32 credits
- Online with four face-to-face meetings per term to foster essential relationship-building skills required of school leaders
- Cohort model builds lifelong community of support
- Master's degree plus licensure available

Become a leader for equity in educational administration

The Administrative Licensure program prepares students to be eligible for the Principal License, formerly known as the Initial or Preliminary Administrator License.

The Administrative Licensure program is designed for current educators interested in becoming strong leaders for equity in K-12 settings. Students in the Administrative Licensure program gain the skills to lead positively, creatively, collaboratively, and proactively in our diverse communities.

The program offers prospective school leaders the opportunity to collaborate with administrators, teachers, parents, and students to support teaching and learning in a climate where social justice prevails.