

More than Islamophobia

Teach-In: Consequences of Xenophobia

How can we stand against hate?
How can we be agents of change for acceptance, inclusion,
and equity for all?

Please join us as a panel of leaders take us on an in-depth exploration, share personal stories, and guide a discussion about the consequences and damages fear, bias and hate against others produce. As we become more informed, what action will we take? What happens in society as a result of fear and hate?

What are the roles that government plays? What do our children face in our schools? What roles do the media play? What are the consequences of targeted policies and laws?

Thursday, February 25, 2016

6:30 - 8:30pm

Academic and Student Recreation Center, 001

Portland State University

1800 SW 6th Avenue

This event was made possible by the partnership of the following groups: PSU Middle East Studies Center; PSU Global Diversity & Inclusion; PSU Office of International Affairs; Muslim Educational Trust; Iraqi Society of Oregon; PSU School of Business Administration; PSU Dean of Students; Center for Intercultural Organizing; Muslim Student Association; Mercy Corps; PSU Student Activities and Leadership Program; PSU Diversity Action Council; PSU Queer Resource Center; PSU Center for Turkish Studies; PSU College of Urban and Public Affairs; City of Portland; PSU Vanguard; Oregon Islamic Academy

