They are planning a webinar for interested applicants and we will forward once this is available.
Here is the blurb for the announcement:
The purpose of this funding is to support sustainable, multi-sectorial collective impact efforts that promote safe, stable, nurturing relationships and environments. Specifically, state health departments will be funded to 1) coordinate and manage existing and new partnerships with other child maltreatment prevention organizations and non-traditional partners to promote safe, stable, nurturing relationships and environments for children; 2) work with partners to identify strategies across sectors that promote safe, stable, nurturing relationships and environments; 3) identify, coordinate, monitor and report on the strategies implemented by multi-sector partners; 4) coordinate improvement processes (e.g., continuous quality improvement) for multi-sector partners to refine strategies that support safe, stable, nurturing relationships and environments; and 5) establish state-level impact of these efforts.  Please note: The only eligible applicants are the State Health Departments or their Bona Fide Agents — but there are required partners listed below.

For the entire project period, state health departments are required to partner with the following organizations and/or sectors:

- State Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act (CAPTA) Title 2 Lead Agency (CBCAP)
- Key CM prevention organizations including but not limited to their state affiliates of the National Alliance of Children’s Trust and Prevention Funds, state chapters of Prevent Child Abuse America, and/or Parents Anonymous
- A minimum of one partner from the business sector to serve on the Leadership Action Team
- Collaboration with the following partners is optional, but strongly encouraged:
  - Non-traditional partners (e.g., media, business – especially those that have statewide or regional reach)
  - Complimentary programs within the health department
  - Traditional partners from various sectors (e.g., education, youth-serving organizations)

Funding Focus: A closer look at the Patient Centered Outcomes Research Institute (PCORI), Thursday May 16, 12pm–1pm OHSU Mac Hall 2201
Are you interested in patient-centered outcomes and comparative effectiveness research? Are you thinking about applying to the Patient Centered Outcomes Research Institute? Join us for an informal panel discussion with faculty and staff who have participated in the PCORI review process or had their work funded by a PCORI grant. The discussion will cover strategies for writing a successful PCORI grant as well as how PCORI-funded projects differ from federally funded research. The panel will take place Thursday, May 16 from 12 to 1 p.m. in Mac Hall 2201. Panelists include:

John McConnell, Ph.D., director, OHSU Center for Health Systems Effectiveness
Katie Wilkes, B.A., manager, OHSU Research Funding and Development Services
Vance Bauer, M.A., OCHIN research operations director
Sonja Likumahuwa, MID, MPH, senior research assistant at OHSU/OCHIN

This workshop is part of the Funding Focus series presented by Research Funding and Development Services, designed to share advice, tips, and general information on funding for the OHSU research community.

CHSE Mitch – Dinner Oregon’s Health Insurance Exchange: How does it work? What does it do? Who will use it?
When: Tuesday, May 14, 2013 5:00 PM–7:00 PM
Where: OHSU Old Library 217 (OHSU Auditorium Building, up the stairs from the large auditorium) (Parking is available in the Auditorium parking lot adjacent to the Auditorium Building.)

Please join the OHSU Center for Health Systems Effectiveness on Tuesday, May 14 for the next “Mitch Dinner.” We will focus on Oregon’s Health Insurance Exchange, also known as “Cover Oregon.” Exchanges are an important part of the Affordable Care Act, but Oregon is one of a small group of states that is designing its own exchange. This event will describe the exchange and what it is meant to do, as well as the challenges and opportunities that are involved.

Speakers include:

· Nora Leibowitz, Chief Policy Officer, Cover Oregon. Cover Oregon is Oregon’s new health insurance marketplace, where starting this fall individuals and small businesses will be able shop for insurance plans and get financial help paying for coverage.

· Peter Graven, Health Economist, Center for Health Systems Effectiveness, OHSU. Peter’s research includes models to assess the impact of health insurance exchanges on labor decisions, as well as the general impacts of the ACA on coverage and plan decisions of individuals, employees and employers.

· Jennifer Messenger, Executive Vice President, The Metropolitan Group. Jennifer and the Metropolitan Group are providing communication support to Cover Oregon as it raises awareness and prepares for launch this fall.

The panel will be moderated by John McConnell, Director of the Center for Health Systems Effectiveness.
A light buffet supper will be served.

If you have not already RSVP’d, please reply to mcconnjo@ohsu.edu if you plan on attending. Thank you!
