Sample reading list for an undergraduate feminist sociological research course
Maura Kelly, Department of Sociology, Portland State University, maura@pdx.edu

Note: I have not taught this course, but I would love to!

Required texts:
Feminist Research Practice (Hesse-Biber)
Feminist Research in Practice (Kelly and Gurr)

Week 1: Intro to Feminist Research
- Kelly, Maura. “Putting Feminist Research in Practice” (Kelly and Gurr)
- Kelly, Maura “Overview of Sociological Research” (Kelly and Gurr)
- Hesse-Biber, Sharlene. “A Re-Invitation to Feminist Research” (Hesse-Biber)

Week 2: Epistemology, Theory, and Ethics
- Naples, Nancy A. and Barbara Gurr. “Feminist Empiricism and Standpoint Theory: Approaches to Understanding the Social World” (Hesse-Biber)
- Frost, Nollaig and Frauke Elichaoff. “Feminist Postmodernism, Poststructuralism and Critical Theory” (Hesse-Biber)
- Bell, Linda. “Ethics and Feminist Research” (Hesse-Biber)

Week 3: Ethnography and Participant Observation
- Gurr, Barbara. “I am Not Your Indian: Claiming Identity at Standing Rock” (Kelly and Gurr)
- Gurr, Barbara. “This is Hard: Researching and Writing Outside of the Lines” (Kelly and Gurr)

Week 4: Interviewing
- Hesse-Biber, Sharlene. “Feminist Approaches to In-Depth Interviewing” (Hesse-Biber)
- Acosta Katie. “Shared Parenting when Mommy and Momma Break Up” (Kelly and Gurr)
- Acosta Katie. “Deep Reflexivity in Conducting Sexuality and Family Research” (Kelly and Gurr)

Week 5: Media and Archival Research
- McIntosh, Heather and Lisa M. Cuklanz. “Feminist Media Research” (Hesse-Biber)
- Reger, Jo. “Maxine Feldman: The Outcast at the Center of the Music” (Kelly and Gurr)
- Reger, Jo. “What’s So Feminist about Archival Research?” (Kelly and Gurr)

Week 6: Survey research
- Miner, Kathi and Toby Jayaratne “Feminist Survey Research” (Hesse-Biber)
- Harnois, Catherine. “Who are feminists in the US today, and what do they believe about social inequality? Challenging stereotypes with quantitative research” (Kelly and Gurr)
- Harnois, Catherine. “An intersectional feminist approach to quantitative research” (Kelly and Gurr)
Week 7: Mixed methods research
- Hesse-Biber, Sharlene “Feminist Approaches to Mixed Methods Research” (Hesse-Biber)
- Kelly, Maura, Gordon Gauchat, Katie Acosta, Elizabeth Withers, and Joyce McNair “Does Science Do More Harm than Good? A Mixed Methods Analysis of African American Women’s Attitudes towards Science” (Kelly and Gurr)
- Kelly, Maura and Joyce McNair “Doing Intersectional Mixed Methods Feminist Research” (Kelly and Gurr)

Week 8: Community based research
- Lykes, M. Brinton and Alison Crosby. “Feminist Practice of Action and Community Research” (Hesse-Biber)
- Kane, Emily. “Interdependence, Social Inclusion, Poverty and Family Policy: A Community-Based Exploration” (Kelly and Gurr)
- Kane, Emily. “Getting to Know People with Experiences and Knowledge Far beyond My Own”: Feminism, Public Sociology, and Community-Based Research” (Kelly and Gurr)

Week 9: Focus Groups and Program Evaluation
- Munday, Jennie. “The Practice of Feminist Focus Groups” (Hesse-Biber)
- Mertens Donna M. and Nichole Stewart “The Feminist Practice of Program Evaluation” (Hesse-Biber)

Week 10: The Research Project
- Hesse-Biber, Sharlene. “Putting Together Your Research Project” (Hesse-Biber)
- Kelly, Maura. “Key Elements of Research Design” (Kelly and Gurr)