Sample reading list for a graduate qualitative methods course
Maura Kelly, Department of Sociology, Portland State University, maura@pdx.edu

Note: I teach two (ten week) graduate seminars on qualitative methods: one on qualitative data collection (which I developed and co-taught with Amy Lubitow) and one on qualitative data analysis. This reading list below is based primarily on the data collection course with some bonus weeks on data analysis from the second course.

Required texts:
The Practice of Qualitative Research, third edition (Hesse-Biber)
Feminist Research in Practice (Kelly and Gurr)

Week 1: Intro to Qualitative Research

- Hesse-Biber, Sharlene. 2016. “An Invitation to Qualitative Research” The Practice of Qualitative Research.

Week 2: Qualitative Research Design

Week 3: Ethics in Qualitative Research

Week 4: Content Analysis and Archival Research

- Reger, Jo. “Maxine Feldman: The Outcast at the Center of the Music” Feminist Research in Practice.
- Reger, Jo. “What’s So Feminist about Archival Research?” Feminist Research in Practice.

Week 5: Ethnography and Participant Observation I

- Gurr, Barbara. “This is Hard: Researching and Writing Outside of the Lines” Feminist Research in Practice.

Week 6: Ethnography and Participant Observation II

Week 7: Interviewing I

- Hesse-Biber, Sharlene. 2016. “In-Depth Interviewing” The Practice of Qualitative Research.
- Baker, Sarah Elsie and Rosalind Edwards. 2012 How Many Qualitative Interviews is Enough? Read the following excerpts: Adler & Adler, Brannen, Bryman, Charmaz, and Doucet. LINK
- Acosta Katie. “Shared Parenting when Mommy and Momma Break Up” in Feminist Research in Practice.
Week 8: Interviewing II

Week 9: Community-Based Research

- Kane, Emily. “Getting to Know People with Experiences and Knowledge Far beyond My Own”: Feminism, Public Sociology, and Community-Based Research” Feminist Research in Practice.

Week 10: Mixed Methods Research

Week 11: Developing an Argument

Week 12: Qualitative Data Analysis I

- Hesse-Biber, Sharlene. 2016. “Analysis and Interpretation of Qualitative Data” The Practice of Qualitative Research.

Week 13: Qualitative Data Analysis II

Week 14: Writing the Qualitative Manuscript

- Hesse-Biber, Sharlene. 2016. “Writing and Representation of Qualitative Research Projects” The Practice of Qualitative Research.