PSU and OHSU faculty have a strategic partnership to collect and share data on women’s health.

Dr. Michelle Berlin, OHSU’s Director of the Center for Women’s Health, primary researcher and co-author (with National Women’s Law Center) of Making the Grade on Women’s Health: A National and State-by-State Report Card collects data that informs the Policy Advisory Towards Health (PATH) for women.

Dr. Jamie P. Ross, PSU, and Co-Director of Outreach for PATH for women uses the local Oregon data to inform local community groups and policy makers on ways to improve gender disparity in health and access to care for women and their families.

Join Dr. Michelle Berlin and Dr. Jamie Ross at this event.

Learn more about:

- Making the Grade on Women’s Health: A National and State-by-State Report Card and the Oregon data
- The work of PATH for women
- The ways students can connect with PATH for women through internships and practicum
- How faculty can work with PATH for women on health related scholarship and STEM innovation

THURSDAY, MAY 16, 2013
12:00 to 2:00 p.m. in SMSU 228

1825 S.W. Broadway on the PSU Campus
FREE and open to the public
This is a brown bag event.
Cookies and coffee provided.

RSVP at http://goo.gl/Mw2tf or (503)725-5642