The Portland Police Bureau receives thousands of burglary and domestic violence calls each year. Work by Criminology and Criminal Justice professor Kris Henning enables law enforcement to better identify and respond to the worst offenders and most dangerous incidents. By incorporating research data into police procedures, criminologists like Henning help collar the hard cases.

> pdx.edu/insidepsu