Education Professor Susan Lenski is changing our assumptions about teens and reading. We may think kids can get themselves from Goodnight Moon to comprehension of more advanced writing, but literacy skills often flounder along the way. Lenski wants to close that gap with teachers and tools to build critical readers.

> pdx.edu/insidepsu