What art form requires performers to move, act, and even dance, while singing with everything they possess? Opera. Students learn this from professor Christine Meadows, professional mezzo-soprano and PSU Opera Program director. She initiates students into the unique world of opera that combines music and the theater, culminating in award-winning performances before capacity crowds.

> pdx.edu/insidepsu